Visit to Russell County.

After a lapse of eighteen months a representative of the News visited lamestown and Russell Springs Mon-lay and Tuesday of last week, meeting many old friends.

nany old friends.

Circuit court was in session at Jamesown, but only a light crowd of yeonany put in an appearance, and it was hought that the business of the term rould be brought to a close in a few ays. Two murder cases were docket-term.

Monday afternoon was taken up by Mr. O. B. Bertram and Mr. James N.
Meadows, who are candidates for County Attorney, subject to the action of the Democratic party. The News man heard but little of the speaking, but he was sorry that he heard what be did. It is not the purpose of the News to interfere with Democratic appriants who are seeking a nomination, hence we only venture to say that personal attacks is food for the opposite party, and they should not be indulged in.
The News hopes that there will be a Late Tuesday afternoon we reached Russell Springs, finding that town greatly improved since our last visit. To get a correct idea of the size of this place and the amount of business that is being done, you must go over it, as but little can be seen in approaching it is being done, you must go over it, as but little can be seen in approaching throm the Russell Springs Hotel to the Fair Grounds. This town will likely be incorporated soon, and when that is done concrete will be laid and an electric light plant installed. Our old friend, J. E. How to Sell the Culls.

The best disposition any fancier can make of his cull birds is to dress them and sell them in the market. It is dangerous to the reputation of the breeder of fine poultry to sell them alive at any price. We once knew fancier to sell his cull birds alive to a grocer. The next thing he knew a huckster poultry dealer was offering birds of his strain showed that the enterprising grocer had sold the cull birds to the huckster at about twice the

On one occasion we sold thirtywanted plain layers, didn't care for points or scores." These birds were sold for just what they were for a little more than the market price. It was not long before a letter from the buyer of these birds appeared in Order a farm paper denou stock in unmeasured terms as being unfit to breed. Since that time we have never sold a cull bird alive. Kill the culls for if you sell them alive some one w see them and judge your whole flock by them. - Poultry.

The speech ADAIR CIRCUIT COURT, KENTUCKY. on the Great Lakes. In e speech stamped him as a humorist, when, as a matter of fact, Governor Knott was always a profound scholar and a great constitutional lawyer. Governor Knott is one of the last of the old Romans of the Democratic party in Kentucky. In 1859 he was appointed Attorney General of the state to fill a vacancy, and was leeketed by the people in 1860. In 1961 he declined to take the test oath. He was disbarred from practice and his office was declared vacant on the ground that he had uttered alleged disloyal sentiments. In 1866 he was declared to Congress, but was not allowed to take his seat at first, although he was finally admitted. although he was finally admitted. His first speech was on the constitutionality of the test oath and the admission of John Brown, afterward Governor of the state, to a seat in the House from the Henderson District. He was reelected to Congress in 1878, and which gave him a national reputation. He also served in the House from 1875 to 1883, when in he was elected Governor of Kentucky by a majority of 43,000. The Democrats do not have such majorities in these days, and there are men in the party who do not believe that the Democrats have the leaders they had when the majorities were so big. Governor Knott's Secretary of State was "Quinine Jim" McKenzie, later a member of Comgress and Minister to Peru. The late John R. Proctor, who afterwards and Cicil Service Commissioner. ernor Knott.
